

Katerina DARA-LEPOURA

Head of the e-Learning Unit at DG Interpretation and Conferences, European Parliament

She holds a degree in French Literature, and Philosophy (University of Athens) and several academic qualifications in Interpreting and Translation: 1988-1991 - Ruprecht Karls Universität Heidelberg - Institut für Übersetzen und Dolmetschen (Interpreting Studies); 1991-1992 - Université de Mons -Faculté de Traduction et d' Interpretation - Masters Degree in Translation; 1992-1993 - Université de Mons -Faculté de Traduction et d' Interpretation - Masters Degree in Interpretation.

In 1994-1995 she was Freelance interpreter in the European Parliament and the European Commission. Between 1995-2005 she was Staff Interpreter in the European Commission. In 2005-2011 she did administrative work in the Programming Unit in DG SCIC (part time) and in the Multilingualism Unit - DG SCIC -Project Manager of the Speech repository project.

In 2011- April 2012 she was Head of e-Learning sector in DG SCIC - responsible for the Speech repository and Project Manager of the Virtual Classes project. In May 2012 she became Administrator e-Learning Unit in DG INTE and since January 2014 she is the Head of the e-Learning Unit in DG INTE, European Parliament.